Landmark Ventures, a venture development and investment banking firm, will tomorrow host its bi-annual Media Technology Showcase in LA highlighting five cutting-edge technology companies who are breaking new ground in the Media Tech arena.

Following from the success of MTS New York 2009, the showcase will be held in Santa Monica, and will be open only to select executives of the Media, Technology and VC communities. MTS showcases are private, one-of-a-kind networking events designed to foster discussion around the best technological opportunities within the Media and Entertainment industry.

Distinguished guests will include Partners of established venture capital firms Rustic Canyon Ventures, Northwest Venture Partners, CrossCut

Ventures, Rudyard Partners and Benchmark Capital, along with key start-up CEOs and SVPs operating at the forefront of the digital revolution, including MovieSet, Perfect Market, Sonoa Systems, Isabella Products and BOKU. Discussion will cover industry spaces such as Film, Digital Media, Music, Television, Finance, Cloud Computing and Web 2.0.

The event will include a speaking program highlighting each guest, followed by a Networking and Cocktail hour.

“We’re thrilled to bring MTS to Los Angeles and to foster a truly dynamic forum that allows industry leaders to come together and share their experience and vision,” said Michael Kurdziel, Managing Director for Landmark Ventures. “There’s a real advantage to providing an intimate, exclusive space where the best of the technology community can openly discuss the leading trends in the industry, and envision where we hope to go from here.”
